

Adrián Franco Barrios

He holds a Masters Degree in Public Policy and Management from The University of Manchester, England, with Distinction level; He also holds a Masters Degree in Public Administration from the Center for Economic Research and Teaching (CIDE); and a BA in Political Science and Public Administration from the National Autonomous University of Mexico where he was awarded with the Gabino Barreda's Medal.

Since 2012 he is the General Director for Governance, Crime, and Justice Statistics at INEGI. From March 2009 to March 2012 he served as Deputy General Director for Governance, Crime and Justice Information at INEGI.

In the Mexican Federal Government he has served as:

- Deputy General Director for Governmental Deregulation and Administrative Development in the Ministry of Comptrollership and Administrative Development.
- Deputy General Director for Policy research and evaluation on Transparency and Anti-Corruption Policies at the Inter-Ministerial Commission for Transparency and Tackling Corruption.
- Deputy General Director for Policies and Evaluation of Vigilance and Control Bodies in the Ministry of Public Administration.

In academia he has taught at institutions such as the CIDE, UNAM and Universidad Iberoamericana in the areas of Public Management, Public Administration, Public Policy, and formal models for policy analysis.

2nd International Conference
on Governance, Crime and Justice Statistics 2014

He has also participated in several projects with national and international organizations through conferences and consultancy on issues related to performance improvement and evaluation of government, transparency and anti-corruption.