

Edgar Guerrero Centeno

Born in Mexico City, Mexico.

Graduated with honors in the National Autonomous University of Mexico (UNAM) in Economics. Earned his Master in Public Policy and Administration in a joint program of the Centre of Economic Research and Teaching (CIDE) and the School of Public Policy, Lyndon B. Johnson, of the University of Texas at Austin.

Worked in the Federal Government in several positions. Worked as Director of Policy and Evaluation of the Supervision and Control Entities of the Federal Government. Also worked as Underdirector of evaluation of the Supervision and Control Entities. The main activities were on the public policy field, through the design, implementation, operation, monitoring and evaluation of improvement policies of the Federal Entities. Also, had in charge activities related to the analysis of corruption risks and the implementation and monitoring of the Federal Program on Transparency and Fight Against Corruption.

Also worked in the Social Development Federal Ministry, as Underdirector of Inspection and Supervision of National Social Programs. The main activities were monitoring and evaluating the implementation of the Social Programs under the responsibility of the Federal Ministry.

In the academy has worked as a consultant in research programs related to the strategic and operative profiles of public institutions, and strategic alignment of the processes, rules, and organic structures of public institutions, according to its goals.

2nd International Conference
on Governance, Crime and Justice Statistics 2014

At this moment is the Director of Governmental Information Policies, in the General Directorate for Statistics of Governance, Crime and Justice, in the National Institute of Statistics and Geography in Mexico (INEGI). One of the main projects he has in charge is the National Census of Governments.